DEFENDANT MICHAELS STORES, INC.’S MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE INSTANTER BRIEF IN EXCESS OF PAGE LIMITS

Pursuant to Local Rule 7.1, Defendant Michaels Stores Inc. (“Michaels”), by and through its attorneys, hereby respectfully moves this Court for leave to file instanter the attached Memorandum of Law in Support of its Motion to Dismiss Consolidated Class Action Complaint (attached hereto as Exhibit A), which exceeds the fifteen page limit by seven pages. In support of this motion, Michaels states as follows:

1. In moving to dismiss Plaintiffs’ Consolidated Class Action Complaint, Michaels must address complicated arguments and issues unique to each of the six Plaintiffs.
2. Due to the highly speculative nature of Plaintiffs’ claims of injury, it is necessary for Michaels to address not only Plaintiffs’ failure to state cognizable claims under both Illinois and New York law, but also Plaintiffs’ lack of standing to bring such claims.
3. Michaels is unable to adequately brief both the Article III standing issues as well as the deficiencies in the claims of the six consolidated Plaintiffs within the fifteen page limit under Local Rule 7.1.

4. Michaels seeks a modest extension of seven pages so that the Motion to Dismiss will be adequately briefed to fully address the fatal pleading and Article III deficiencies in Plaintiffs' Consolidated Class Action Complaint.

WHEREFORE, Defendant Michaels respectfully moves this Court for leave to file instantly the attached Memorandum of Law in Support of its Motion to Dismiss Consolidated Class Action Complaint.

Dated: May 28, 2014

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Plaintiffs seek to assert claims arising from the recent cyber security incursion at Michaels Stores, Inc. (“Michaels” or the “Company”). Fatal to their claims, however, is that they do not allege any cognizable injury, much less cognizable injury plausibly caused by Michaels.

Starting just two days after Michaels announced that it had learned of possible fraudulent activity on some U.S. payment cards used at Michaels, plaintiff Christina Moyer and the other named plaintiffs in these now-consolidated cases (collectively, “Plaintiffs”) began filing class action suits. Michaels has confirmed that it suffered a data security incident, but a data security incident does not, nor should it ever, result automatically in cognizable injury to Plaintiffs. A misunderstanding of that fundamental rule of law is at the heart of Plaintiffs’ pleading deficiencies. Noticeably absent from the Complaint is any allegation that Plaintiffs suffered from or paid for any fraudulent charges, that their banks are even attempting to hold them liable for any fraudulent charges, or that they have otherwise expended any funds at all as a result of the data security incident. Indeed, only one of the six Plaintiffs (Ms. Whalen) makes any allegation that credit card information was stolen, but even she does not allege that she suffered fraudulent charges, cryptically alleging instead that her card was merely “presented” for a purchase. And even if Plaintiffs had alleged fraudulent charges (which they do not), Plaintiffs do not (and cannot) allege that any of those charges remained unreimbursed or that their card issuers were holding them liable for any unauthorized charges. Finally, at least three of the Plaintiffs do not even allege that they made purchases at a Michaels store during the period of time in which any data was exposed from that store—a deficiency that completely dooms their claim.

While Plaintiffs devote several pages to generalized stories regarding identity theft, they do not allege any facts suggesting that any Plaintiff has been or will be the victim of identity theft. Instead, they rely on vague assertions of speculative future injury, which have been consistently rejected as insufficient to create standing or state a claim for which relief can be granted. Without an allegation of specific facts constituting an injury-in-fact that is fairly traceable to the actions of Michaels, recent decisions from the United States Supreme Court and this Court mandate dismissal of the Complaint for lack of standing under Article III. See Clapper v. Amnesty Int'l USA, 133 S. Ct. 1138, 1147 (2013); Strautins v. Trustwave Holdings, Inc., -- F. Supp. 2d --, 2014 WL 960816, at *1 (N.D. Ill. Mar. 12, 2014); In re Barnes & Noble Pin Pad Litig., No. 12-cv-8617, 2013 WL 4759588 (N.D. Ill. Sept. 3, 2013). Even if Plaintiffs could arguably satisfy the requirements to prove Article III standing, Plaintiffs' failure (and inability) to allege any injury means that each of their claims for relief must be dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6).

II. STATEMENT OF FACTS

Plaintiffs seek damages allegedly arising from a data security incident that was the result of a criminal attack on the Company's computer systems, which exposed payment card account numbers used at certain Michaels stores between May 8, 2013 and January 27, 2014. Michaels has described the data incursion in the website postings cited in the Complaint.<sup>1</sup> (See Consolidated Class Action Complaint (the "Complaint") ¶¶ 2-3, 18-20.) As reported there, Michaels first learned in late January 2014 that there was possible fraudulent activity on some U.S. payment cards that had been used at Michaels, suggesting that Michaels had experienced a possible data security attack. (Id. at ¶ 2.) Michaels informed its customers of the possibility that <sup>1</sup> The website information, attached hereto as Exhibits A-C, are cited in the Complaint and referred to extensively therein (see Compl. ¶¶ 1-2, 17-20, 42-43), and, therefore, may be reviewed on a motion to dismiss. Adams v. City of Indianapolis, 742 F.3d 720, 729 (7th Cir. 2014) ("[D]ocuments attached to a motion to dismiss are considered part of the pleadings if they are referred to in the plaintiff's complaint and are central to his claim."); Kaden v. First Commonwealth Ins. Co., 05 C 2212, 2006 WL 1444886 (N.D. Ill. May 18, 2006) (Bucklo, J.) (same).

it had experienced a data security attack, that it was working with federal law enforcement and third-party data security experts to investigate the facts around the possible attack, and that it would continue to provide updates as the investigation continued.<sup>2</sup>

On April 17, 2014, Michaels provided an update to its customers.<sup>3</sup> Michaels reported that its two independent forensic firms “discovered evidence confirming systems of Michaels stores in the United States . . . were attacked by criminals using highly sophisticated malware that had not been encountered previously by either of the security firms.”<sup>4</sup> (April Letter.) The April Letter also includes three key disclosures: First, the only data at risk was payment card number and expiration date; no other personal data, such as name, address, or PIN, was at risk. (Id.) Second, the data security incident affected only a limited number of the point-of-sale systems at a limited number of stores. (Id.)<sup>5</sup> Third, credit monitoring services are offered to affected Michaels customers for twelve months at no cost. (April Letter.)

<sup>3</sup> Updated Letter From Our CEO, posted on <http://www.michaels.com/payment-card-notice-ceo-letter/payment-card-notice-CEO.html> (April 17, 2014) (the “April Letter”), a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

<sup>4</sup> Plaintiffs include in the putative class definition absent class members that made an in-store purchase at an Aaron Brothers store. (See Compl. ¶46.) However, Aaron Brothers, Inc., which operates the Aaron Brothers stores, is not a named defendant. Other than stating that Aaron Brothers is a subsidiary of Michaels, Plaintiffs make no allegations about Aaron Brothers, much less allegations sufficient to pierce the corporate veil. None of the Plaintiffs allege that they made any purchases at an Aaron Brothers store and, indeed, there are none in Illinois or New York. The attempt to sweep Aaron Brothers customers into the class definition characteristically overreaches and should be stricken.

<sup>5</sup> The April Letter cites to and directs consumers to the list of “locations and potential dates of exposure for each affected Michaels store.” (Id.) A true and correct copy of the Affected U.S. Michaels Stores and Dates of Exposure (the “Affected Stores List”), which was integral to the April Letter, is attached hereto as Exhibit C and available at http://demandware.edgesuite.net/aaeo\_prd/on/demandware.static/Sites-MichaelsUS-Site/Sites-MichaelsUS-Library/default/v1399612220092/docs/corporate/US-Michaels-Stores-List-4-17-14.pdf.

Plaintiffs allege that they visited various Michaels stores in Illinois and New York and made purchases on their credit or debit cards from November 2013 through January 2014. (Compl. ¶¶ 11-15.) Three of the six Plaintiffs fail to allege any purchase during a time when the store from which they made a purchase was affected by the data security incident.<sup>6</sup> No Plaintiff actually alleges that fraudulent charges were incurred on his or her card, and only one Plaintiff, Ms. Whalen, alleges that someone attempted to use her credit card (but does not allege that the charge was approved). (See id.) None of the Plaintiffs, including Ms. Whalen, allege that they actually paid for fraudulent charges, that their banks are even attempting to hold them liable for any fraudulent charges, or that they have otherwise expended any funds at all as a result of the data security incident. (See id.)

Similarly, although Plaintiffs quote from a Government Accountability Office study on identity theft, they do not allege that they have suffered any form of identity theft, nor could they, given that the type of information compromised—payment card numbers—did not include the sort of governmental identifier, such as driver’s license number or social security number, which would be required for identity theft. The theft of payment card numbers alone is insufficient as a matter of law to plausibly allege identity theft. Rather, Plaintiffs allege only generalized, speculative, prospective harms, suffered not by them individually, but instead hypothetically suffered by non-specified putative class members generally. For example, Plaintiffs allege that “Class members . . . have had their financial information placed at serious and ongoing risk.” (Id. at ¶ 22.) Plaintiffs further allege that they suffered harm from the

<sup>6</sup> The Gouwens made purchases at the Kildeer location on December 5 and 11, 2013, and on January 16, 2014 (Compl. ¶ 12); however, data from the Kildeer location was only at risk of exposure from May 8, 2013 through July 29, 2013. (Affected Stores List at 16.) Similarly, Mr. Ripes made a purchase at the Glenview location on November 3, 2013 and at the Vernon Hills location on December 28, 2013 (Compl. ¶ 14); but data from each of those locations was also only at risk of exposure from May 8, 2013 through July 29, 2013. (Affected Stores List at 16-17.)

“increased risk of identity theft.” (Id. at ¶ 44.) Ignoring the free credit monitoring and insurance Michaels is offering, they also allege that “consumers,” but not Plaintiffs themselves, “must expend considerable time taking these precautions [checking their credit reports, etc.] for years to come,” and that they suffered damages “based on the opportunity cost and value of time that [they] have been forced to expend to monitor their financial and bank accounts.” (Id. at ¶¶ 42, 45.) Finally, Plaintiffs allege that because a “portion of the services purchased from Michaels . . . necessarily included compliance with industry-standard measures with respect to the collection and safeguarding of PII, . . . [they] incurred actual monetary damages in that they overpaid for the products purchased from Michaels.” (Id. at ¶ 40.) None of these allegations are sufficient to confer standing on Plaintiffs or to provide Plaintiffs with the requisite injury to state viable claims for relief.

III. ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

A. Standard of Review

In deciding a motion to dismiss a claim for lack of standing under Rule 12(b)(1), the “plaintiff bears the burden of showing the jurisdictional requirements, including standing, have been met.” In re Barnes & Noble, 2013 WL 4759588, at *3 (citing Kathrein v. City of Evanston, 636 F.3d 906, 914 (7th Cir. 2011)). When deciding that motion at the pleadings stage, all “material allegations of the complaint are construed as true, and all reasonable inferences are drawn in favor of the plaintiff.” Id. (citing Apex Digital, Inc. v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 572 F.3d 440, 443 (7th Cir. 2009)). However, standing may not “be inferred argumentatively from averments in the pleadings.” Spencer v. Kemna, 523 U.S. 1, 10-11 (1998) (internal quotation omitted).

If the Court proceeds to analyze the motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), the Complaint must be dismissed if it does not contain “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). The Court must accept all well-pleaded allegations as true and in a light most favorable to the plaintiff, but mere “labels and conclusions” or “a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.” Id. “[O]nly a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 679 (2009). “Threadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.” Id. at 678.

B. Dismissal Pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) Is Proper Because Plaintiffs Lack Standing Under Article III.

1. Plaintiffs’ Allegations of Future and Peripheral Injury Are Similar to Those Rejected by the Supreme Court in Clapper.

The Complaint fails to even come close to adequately alleging that Plaintiffs possess the requisite standing under Article III of the Constitution.

Article III requires that “a plaintiff must show (1) it has suffered an ‘injury in fact’ that is (a) concrete and particularized and (b) actual or imminent, not conjectural or hypothetical; (2) the injury is fairly traceable to the challenged action of the defendant; and (3) it is likely, as opposed to merely speculative, that the injury will be redressed by a favorable decision.” Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Laidlaw Envtl. Servs. (TOC), Inc., 528 U.S. 167, 180-181 (2000); see also Clapper, 133 S. Ct. at 1147 (“[W]e have repeatedly reiterated that threatened injury must be certainly impending to constitute injury in fact, and that allegations of possible future injury are not sufficient.” (internal citation omitted and emphasis in original)). And in the class action context, it is settled that “Petitioners must allege and show that they personally have been injured, not that injury has been suffered by other, unidentified members of the class to which they belong and which they purport to represent.” Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 502 (1975) (emphasis added).

Here, far from alleging specific and personal injury that is “certainly impending,” the named Plaintiffs allege only future and hypothetical injury that has been held time and again to be insufficient to confer constitutional standing. See Clapper, 133 S. Ct. at 1147 (holding that allegations of possible future injury were not sufficient to confer standing). Five of the six Plaintiffs do not even allege that there have been any unauthorized activity on their accounts, and the sixth only alleges that a card bearing her credit card number was “presented for payment.” (Compl. ¶¶ 11-15.) Noticeably absent from the Complaint is any allegation that any of the Plaintiffs were actually harmed in that they suffered from unreimbursed fraudulent charges. In that regard, Plaintiffs do not allege that they have borne, are bearing, or will have to bear any financial responsibility for any alleged fraudulent charges, as any charge, had it been made, would have been reimbursed.<sup>7</sup>

The only statement regarding monetary loss consists of a single conclusory statement, made almost in passing, in Paragraph 41 of the Complaint. In that single paragraph, Plaintiffs make the bald statement that “Plaintiffs and the Class have suffered . . . actual damages including monetary losses arising from unauthorized bank account withdrawals, fraudulent card payments, and/or related bank fees charged to their accounts.” (Compl. ¶ 41.) This bare allegation is not supported by any specific facts about any particular monetary losses, and, in fact, is belied by the complete omission of any allegation of bank fee charges made on the named Plaintiffs’ accounts and the noticeable absence of any allegation by any of the Plaintiffs that any charge was made, much less that it remained unreimbursed. If any of the Plaintiffs possessed facts—rather than mere conclusions—regarding unauthorized charges or unreimbursed losses, they certainly would have, and would have been required to have, pled them. The omission is revealing, and, of course, this unsubstantiated, contradictory, and conclusory statement found only in this single paragraph cannot salvage the complete lack of particularized injury-in-fact allegations made in the remaining 102-paragraph Complaint. See, e.g., Blackout Sealcoating, Inc. v. Peterson, 894 F. Supp. 2d 1067, 1070 (N.D. Ill. 2012) (Bucklo, J.) (“[T]he complaint does not substantiate this conclusory statement with the kind of factual material that would raise their right to relief ‘above the speculative level.’” (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555)).

<sup>7</sup> To the extent that any assertions could be construed as alleging monetary loss, such an allegation cannot be given any credence, as the card issuers have zero liability policies for fraudulent charges. See, e.g., Chase Debit Cards Website, <https://www.chase.com/checking/debit-cards> (“Chase reimburses you for any unauthorized card transaction made at stores, ATMs, on the phone or online when reported promptly.”).

Shorn of the conclusory allegations bearing no factual support whatsoever, Plaintiffs’ alleged harm consists only of future and peripheral injuries. For example, Plaintiffs allege that “consumers must expend considerable time taking these precautions [such as checking credit reports, closing accounts] for years to come.” (Compl. ¶ 42.) Similarly, Plaintiffs allege “damages based on the opportunity cost and value of time that Plaintiffs and the Class have been forced to expend to monitor their financial and bank accounts.” (Id. at ¶ 45.) Plaintiffs also allege that they suffered damages in the form of “costs associated with identity theft and the increased risk of identity theft.” (Id. at ¶ 44.) Finally, Plaintiffs allege that “they overpaid for the products purchased from Michaels” because a “portion of the services purchased from Michaels by Plaintiffs and the Class necessarily included compliance with industry-standard measures with respect to the collection and safeguarding of PII.” (Id. at ¶ 40.)

Whether standing can be conferred through allegations of these types of “hypothetical injury,” such as allegedly having to take precautions to avoid future harm in future years, was addressed recently by the United States Supreme Court in Clapper v. Amnesty International USA. 133 S. Ct. at 1147. In Clapper, the plaintiffs (attorneys, journalists, and other professionals) believed it likely that U.S. intelligence officials were intercepting their confidential communications with foreign citizens. 133 S. Ct. at 1142. To avoid that surveillance, they allegedly took “costly and burdensome measures to protect the confidentiality of their communications,” such as “avoid[ing] certain e-mail and phone conversations” and “travel[ing] so that they c[ould] have in-person conversations.” Id. at 1151. The Court found those alleged costs to be insufficient:

[Plaintiffs’] contention that they have standing because they incurred certain costs as a reasonable reaction to a risk of harm is unavailing—because the harm respondents seek to avoid is not certainly impending. In other words, [Plaintiffs] cannot manufacture standing merely by inflicting harm on themselves based on their fears of hypothetical future harm that is not certainly impending.

Id. (emphasis added). There is no difference between the “hypothetical future harms” alleged by the plaintiffs in Clapper and those alleged by Plaintiffs in this case. Accordingly, and pursuant to the Supreme Court’s guidance in Clapper, allegations that Plaintiffs incurred time and expense to mitigate risks of identity theft and that their credit card information is at an increased risk of theft and unauthorized use (Compl. ¶¶ 40-45), are plainly insufficient to confer the requisite Article III standing.

2. Plaintiffs’ Allegations of Future and Peripheral Injury Are Identical to Those Rejected by this Court in Barnes & Noble and Strautins.

In the wake of Clapper, this Court has dismissed on standing grounds two data breach complaints that are strikingly similar to the Complaint before the Court. Plaintiffs’ Complaint includes no distinguishing fact that should warrant a different outcome here.

In the first case, Judge Darrah dismissed a suit seeking damages arising after customer payment card data was stolen from Barnes & Noble. In re Barnes & Noble, 2013 WL 4759588. The plaintiffs in that case alleged that they purchased goods from Barnes & Noble while Barnes & Noble was experiencing a data security breach. Id. at *1-2. Similar to the allegations made by Plaintiffs in the case before the Court, the plaintiffs in Barnes & Noble alleged damages comprised of reimbursed fraudulent charges, diminished value of products and services, an increased risk of identity theft, time and expenses incurred to mitigate the risks of identity theft, improper disclosure of personal identifying information, and inadequate notification of the security breach. The alleged harm was held to be inadequate to confer constitutional standing: “In order to have suffered an actual injury, [plaintiff] must have had an unreimbursed charge on her credit card.” Id. at *3-6 (emphasis added).

In the second case, Judge Tharp granted a motion to dismiss where plaintiffs alleged that personal identifying information was stolen from the South Carolina Department of Revenue’s tax database. See Strautins, 2014 WL 960816, at *1. The plaintiffs in that case alleged that “hackers gained access to SCDOR data” and thereafter “stole and compromised her PII.” Id. Citing both Clapper and Barnes & Noble, this Court found the following allegations to be “too speculative to permit the complaint to go forward”: allegations of untimely notification, out-of-pocket expenses and/or time incurred to mitigate the increase risk of identity theft, and the deprivation of the value of the plaintiff’s PII. Id. at *3-4.

In reaching their decisions and holding that allegations of future harm or steps taken to mitigate future harm were insufficient to confer standing on the plaintiffs, Judges Tharp and Darrah both relied heavily on the Supreme Court’s recent decision in Clapper.<sup>8</sup> But even before Clapper was decided, a long line of courts recognized that the possibility that stolen data could result in financial injury to plaintiffs was “future-oriented, hypothetical, and conjectural,” and therefore did not provide for standing. Hammond v. Bank of N. Y. Mellon Corp., No. 08 Civ. 6060, 2010 WL 2643307, at *7 (S.D.N.Y. June 25, 2010) (no standing where unencrypted data lost by transport company); see also Reilly v. Ceridian Corp., 664 F.3d 38, 43 (3d Cir. 2011) (no standing based on future injury where hacker allegedly stole data); Amburgy v. Express Scripts, Inc., 671 F. Supp. 2d 1046 (E.D. Mo. 2009) (alleged increased risk for identity theft due to hacker accessing information insufficient to show injury); Allison v. Aetna, Inc., Civ. A. No. 09-2560, 2010 WL 3719243 (E.D. Pa. Mar. 9, 2010) (“alleged injury of an increased risk of identity theft is far too speculative” to provide standing). The holdings of these cases have only been strengthened by the Supreme Court’s subsequent decision in Clapper.

<sup>8</sup> And just yesterday, an Illinois Circuit Court granted a motion to dismiss a putative class action arising out of a data breach, holding that Clapper compelled “rejection of Plaintiffs’ argument that an increased risk of identity theft is sufficient to satisfy the injury-in-fact requirement for standing.” Vides v. Advocate Health & Hosp. Corp., Case No. 13-CH-2701, at *5 (Ill. Cir. Ct. [Lake County] May 27, 2014) (attached hereto as Exhibit D).

Michaels anticipates that Plaintiffs will cite the Court to Pisciotta v. Old Nat’l Bancorp., 499 F.3d 629 (7th Cir. 2007), for the proposition that future identity theft may suffice for standing purposes. Even before Clapper, the Seventh Circuit’s holding as to standing was widely criticized. See, e.g., Reilly, 664 F.3d at 44 (recognizing that Pisciotta did not mention that a threatened injury must be imminent to confer standing); Amburgy, 671 F. Supp. 2d at 1051 (noting that the Seventh Circuit engaged in no discussion applying the standard for determining standing in a data breach case). But more importantly, the Pisciotta decision pre-dates the Supreme Court’s decision in Clapper and simply cannot be reconciled with Clapper, at least insofar as the standing analysis is concerned. In Strautins, Judge Tharp held that the standing analysis contained in Pisciotta was inconsistent with and could not be reconciled with the Clapper decision, and in Barnes & Noble, Judge Darrah followed Clapper, not Pisiciotta, as the binding precedent. See Strautins, 2014 WL 960816, at *5-6 (“[T]his Court concludes that it is duty bound to apply that standard in this case notwithstanding seemingly inconsistent Seventh Circuit precedent that predates Clapper.”); Barnes & Noble, 2013 WL 4759588, at *2; Vides, Case No. 13-CH-2701, at *7 (Ex. D). The Court here should also follow Clapper and recognize that Pisciotta is no longer controlling authority.

Just as in Clapper, Barnes & Noble, Strautins, and other similar decisions, Plaintiffs’ allegations, which consist almost entirely of future harm, fall well below the standard necessary to establish constitutional standing. Here, there is no allegation that any alleged harm that Plaintiffs face is “certainly impending.” See Clapper, 133 S. Ct. at 1147. Nor can there be any reasonable inference that there is some impending harm, as the Complaint alleges no facts that would allow this Court to believe that Plaintiffs are at any risk of future identity theft. Even when payment card numbers are exposed, credit and debit card account numbers are obviously not the sort of government-issued identification, such as Social Security numbers or driver’s licenses, that could theoretically be used to impersonate an individual and open a new account in her name. Plaintiffs do not allege that names, Social Security numbers, dates of birth, or other information needed to open new accounts were compromised. The prospect of identity theft resulting solely from having a payment card number exposed is highly implausible. This is precisely the kind of speculative, distant, uncertain injury that the Supreme Court rejected in Clapper. Moreover, Plaintiffs also do not allege that their credit card accounts remain active and capable of incurring additional charges, and thus cannot show the requisite injury for Article III standing. Finally, even if they were to incur fraudulent charges, Plaintiffs do not allege that they would be held liable for paying those fraudulent charges. In short, there is nothing imminent or plausible about the Plaintiffs’ alleged harms.

Costs taken to mitigate these speculative injuries are also insufficient to provide Plaintiffs with Article III standing. Where there is only a potential future harm, actions taken now in an attempt to mitigate that future harm are insufficient to create standing. See Clapper, 133 S. Ct. at 1151 (plaintiffs “cannot manufacture standing merely by inflicting harm on themselves based on their fears of a hypothetical future harm that is not certainly impending”).<sup>9</sup> Earlier this year, a district court in a case involving a data breach at Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company reached the same conclusion, holding that “an increased risk of identity theft, identity fraud, medical fraud or phishing is not itself an injury-in-fact because Named Plaintiffs did not allege—or offer facts to make plausible—an allegation that such harm is ‘certainly impending.’” Galaria v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co., -- F. Supp. 2d --, 2014 WL 689703, at *5 (S.D. Ohio Feb. 10, 2014) (holding that where computer system was hacked and consumers’ personal information was stolen and disseminated, allegations of increased risk of harm, loss of privacy, and deprivation of the value of the personal information were insufficient to show standing). Here, entirely neglecting that Michaels is offering free credit monitoring and identity theft insurance, Plaintiffs allege the same self-inflicted injuries raised in Barnes & Noble—time and expenses incurred to mitigate the risk of future injury. See Barnes & Noble, 2013 WL 4759588, at *4. Because the harms Plaintiffs allegedly sought to mitigate are not “certainly impending,” the time and expenses incurred are wholly irrelevant to the question of standing. See id.

And Plaintiffs’ allegation of peripheral injury—that they allegedly “incurred actual monetary damages in that they overpaid for the products purchased from Michaels” because the price of the goods included safeguarding their credit card information, (id. at ¶ 40)—has been raised and rejected by this Court as speculative. As in Barnes & Noble, there is no allegation here that Michaels “charged a higher price for goods whether a customer pays with credit [versus paying with cash,” or that customers could therefore expect additional value (i.e., data security) when paying by credit card. See Barnes & Noble, 2013 WL 4759588, at *5. Other courts have come to the same conclusion when faced with similar allegations of peripheral injury. See, e.g., In re LinkedIn User Privacy Litig., 932 F. Supp. 2d 1089, 1093 (N.D. Cal. 2013) (premium users were not paying for additional privacy where the privacy policy for LinkedIn users was the same regardless of whether a person paid for premium services or utilized the free version); Sterk v. Best Buy Stores, L.P., No. 11-cv-1894, 2012 WL 5197901, at *7 (N.D. Ill. Oct. 17, 2012) (dismissing claim based on lack of standing where plaintiff alleged he overpaid because Best Buy was not complying with credit card laws, but there was no difference in price for credit or cash purposes); In re iPhone Application Litig., No. 11-md-2250, 2011 WL 4403963, at *4–6 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 20, 2011) (holding that undifferentiated “lost opportunity costs” and “value-for-value exchanges” resulting from collection and tracking of personal information were not cognizable injuries in fact); Dwyer v. Am. Express Co., 273 Ill. App. 3d 743, 749 (Ill. App. Ct. 1995) (suggesting that any value is created by defendants who “categoriz[e] and aggregat[e]” personal information). This Court should follow these well-reasoned decisions, including from this Court, and likewise hold that allegations of the lesser value of goods are insufficient to establish standing.

<sup>9</sup> See also Reilly, 664 F.3d at 46 (“costs incurred to watch for a speculative chain of future events based on hypothetical future criminal acts are no more ‘actual’ injuries that the alleged ‘increased risk of injury’”); Polanco v. Omnicell, Inc., -- F. Supp. 2d --, 2013 WL 6823265 (D.N.J. Dec. 26, 2013) (seeking treatment at a different hospital is not sufficient to establish standing because decision was based entirely on speculative belief that previous hospital would lose personal information again); Amburgy, 671 F. Supp. 2d at 1053 (plaintiff lacked standing even though he had already expended funds to mitigate potential future damages).

In sum, Plaintiffs fail to allege what damage—what concrete and compensable harm—is being suffered here and now. Plaintiffs have not paid any cash out of pocket; Plaintiffs do not allege that their banks have asked them to pay any alleged fraudulent charges; and Plaintiffs do not allege any other presently realized (or “certainly impending”) harm in the Complaint. As such, Plaintiffs have failed to plead the “irreducible constitutional minimum” of federal standing, and the case must be dismissed. Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560 (1992).

3. Plaintiffs’ Allegations of Future and Peripheral Injury Cannot Be Fairly Traced to Action by Michaels.

Even if the injuries allegedly suffered by Plaintiffs were sufficient to establish standing, Plaintiffs cannot demonstrate that the alleged injuries are fairly traceable to action taken by Michaels. See, e.g., Clapper, 133 S. Ct. at 1147. Importantly, Plaintiffs have not pled that their alleged injuries were directly or indirectly caused by actions taken by Michaels. In fact, three of the six Plaintiffs fail to allege a purchase during a time when the store from which they made a purchase was affected. (Compare Compl. ¶¶ 12, 14 with Affected Stores List at 15-17.) Because Mr. Gouwens, Ms. Gouwens, and Mr. Ripes cannot state a claim for harm based on any action taken by Michaels—there is no allegation that the security incident was active in those stores at the time of their purchases—their claims must be dismissed. And for the other three Plaintiffs, there are and could be only allegations of a “mere coincidence in timing,” which are insufficient to establish a causal connection between the alleged breach. See Hammond, 2010 WL 2643307, at *5, 13. Finally, Plaintiffs have not pled that any alleged harm has resulted because of actions taken by Michaels, as opposed to some other manner through which their credit card information could have been stolen. For all these reasons, Plaintiffs have failed to allege standing, and the Complaint should be dismissed.

C. In the Alternative, The Complaint Fails to State a Claim Upon Which Relief May Be Granted.

Even if Plaintiffs were able to establish standing, the Complaint still should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Under Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a motion to dismiss should be granted if the complaint does not contain “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570.

“A complaint must contain enough ‘factual content’ to allow a court ‘to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.’” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. A complaint that offers only “labels and conclusions” or “a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.” Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. Moreover, courts “are not bound to accept as true a legal conclusion couched as a factual allegation.” Id. “Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual enhancement.’” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. In other words, Plaintiffs’ factual allegations must be sufficient “to raise a right to relief above the speculative level.” See Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. When viewed through these standards, Plaintiffs’ claims cannot proceed.

1. Plaintiffs Fail to State a Claim for Breach of Implied Contract.

Plaintiffs allege that Michaels breached an implied contract to protect customer data. (See Compl. ¶ 63.) As held by the Seventh Circuit, such a claim for breach of implied contract turns on and necessarily requires Plaintiffs to plead actual monetary harm that has resulted from the alleged breach of contract. See Pisciotta, 499 F.3d at 632 (holding, in the portion of decision not addressed by Clapper, breach of contract claim fails where plaintiff did not “allege any completed direct financial loss to their accounts as a result of the breach”).<sup>10</sup> Plaintiffs here do not allege that they have suffered any financial loss from unreimbursed charges or that they have been a victim of identity theft. Accordingly, they fail to state a contract claim for which relief can be granted.

<sup>10</sup> Numerous other courts have dismissed contract claims in data security cases holding that there was no allegation of injury. See, e.g., Hammond, 2010 WL 2643307, at *11; Hendricks v. DSW Shoe Warehouse, Inc., 444 F. Supp. 2d 775, 780 (W.D. Mich. 2006) (granting 12(b)(6) motion and dismissing contract claims for failure to demonstrate injury where plaintiff alleged damages for purchasing credit monitoring and unauthorized access to her PII); Forbes v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 420 F. Supp. 2d 1018, 2021 (D. Minn. 2006) (dismissing breach of contract claim based on lack of injury); Ruiz v. Gap, Inc., 622 F. Supp. 2d 908, 917 (N.D. Cal. 2009) (dismissing breach of contract claim where plaintiff was not a victim of identity theft and could not show damages by pointing to fear of future identity theft).

Plaintiffs' failure to provide any explanation of how the sale of merchandise by Michaels using credit cards implies any agreement between Plaintiffs and Michaels regarding "reasonable measures to safeguard their financial data" is similarly fatal to their claims. (Compl. ¶ 63.) Indeed, in discussing breach of implied contract claims in the data privacy realm, the Seventh Circuit remarked that "Plaintiffs have not come forward with a single case or statute, from any jurisdiction, authorizing the kind of action they now ask this federal court to recognize as a valid theory of recovery," and declined to such a "substantive innovation." Pisciotta, 499 F.3d at 639-40. The MDL court in In re Zappos.com, Inc. Customer Data Security Breach Litigation likewise declined to recognize a new claim for breach of implied contract in similar circumstances:

But there is no allegation of any express or implied contract. The only allegations alleged to give rise to any contract are that customers agreed to pay money for goods, and that statements on Zappos's website indicated that its servers were protected by a secure firewall and that customers' data was safe. The first type of contract for the sale of goods is not alleged to have been breached, and the unilateral statements of fact alleged as to the safety of customers' data do not create any contractual obligations.

In re Zappos.com, No. 3:12-cv-00325, 2013 WL 4830497, at *3 (D. Nev. Sept. 9, 2013) (emphasis added).

Similarly, Plaintiffs here have not alleged any contractual obligations other than a sale of goods that was "not alleged to have been breached." See id. There is no allegation that the parties agreed on any other terms related to the protection of the consumer's information, and the breach of implied contract claim should be dismissed on this basis as well.

2. Plaintiffs Fail to State a Claim for Violation of the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act, New York General Business Law § 349, and Other Purportedly Similar State Statutes.<sup>11</sup>

Plaintiffs allege that Michaels “violated 815 ILCS 505/2 [and N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349] by failing to properly implement adequate, commercially reasonable security measures to protect Plaintiffs’ and other members’ private financial information.” (Compl. ¶¶ 73, 100.) The allegations fail to state a valid claim under these state laws.

“Plaintiffs must prove five elements to state a cause of action under Consumer Fraud Act: (1) a deceptive act or unfair practice occurred, (2) the defendant intended for plaintiff to rely on the deception, (3) the deception occurred in the course of conduct involving trade or commerce, (4) the plaintiff sustained actual damages, and (5) such damages were proximately caused by the defendant’s deception.” Toney v. Kinsch, No. 10 C 06375, 2012 WL 567729, at *5 (N.D. Ill. Feb. 21, 2012) (internal quotation omitted).<sup>12</sup> Because Plaintiffs cannot show that an unfair or deceptive act occurred, that there was any materially misleading communication, that Michaels had the requisite state of mind, or that Plaintiffs sustained actual damages caused by the allegedly deceptive acts, Plaintiffs’ Consumer Fraud Act (“CFA”) and General Business Law (“GBL”) § 349 claims must be dismissed.

First, Plaintiffs fail to allege that a deceptive or unfair act occurred. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that “a consumer cannot maintain an [CFA] claim absent some communication from the defendant, either a communication containing a deceptive misrepresentation or one with a deceptive omission.” Ciszewski v. Denny’s Corp., No. 09 C 5355, 2010 WL 1418582 (N.D. Ill. Apr. 7, 2010) (citing De Bouse v. Bayer AG, 922 N.E.2d 309, 313 (Ill. 2009)). In Ciszewski, this Court dismissed a CFA claim where the plaintiff alleged that Denny’s failed to disclose that its foods contained high levels of sodium—because, as did the Plaintiffs in this case, the plaintiffs in that case failed to point to any particular communication he received from Denny’s. Id. at *3. Plaintiffs’ failure to identify any relevant deceptive communication made by Michaels dooms their CFA claim. Id.; see also In re Michaels Stores Pin Pad Litig., 830 F. Supp. 2d 518, 525 (N.D. Ill. 2011). Rather, Plaintiffs affirmatively plead that there was no communication from Michaels. (See Compl. ¶ 73.) And any allegation that the Company’s notifications regarding the data security incident constitute a deceptive or unfair act under the CFA likewise would fall flat. As held by this Court in Barnes & Noble, there “must be some injury beyond mere violation of the statute” in order to state a claim. See In re Barnes & Noble, 2013 WL 4759588, at *3 (rejecting argument that improper notification was sufficient to state a CFA claim).

<sup>11</sup> Plaintiffs seek to bring this action on behalf of a nationwide class. At this stage of the case, and viewing all facts in a light most favorable to Plaintiffs, Michaels has briefed this matter applying Illinois and New York law, as those laws clearly differ. Because these and other laws differ from state-to-state, Michaels reserves its rights to argue that other states’ laws should apply at later stages of this proceeding and reserves all rights to argue that the differing state laws weigh against class certification.

<sup>12</sup> See also Stutman v. Chem. Bank, 95 N.Y.2d 24, 29 (N.Y. 2000) (three elements for GBL § 349 claim are (1) challenged act or practice was consumer oriented; (2) the act or practice was misleading in a material way; and (3) the plaintiff suffered injury as a result of the deceptive act).

Similarly, Plaintiffs fail to allege facts showing that the allegedly omitted information would be “likely to mislead a reasonable consumer,” which allegations are necessary to their GBL claim under New York law. Oswego Laborers’ Local 214 Pension Fund v. Marine Midland Bank, 85 N.Y.2d 20, 26 (1995). Plaintiffs’ contentions are little more than “a legal conclusion couched as a factual allegation,” which courts “are not bound to accept as true” under Twombly. 550 U.S. at 555 (internal quotation marks omitted). Plaintiffs cannot be alleging that Michaels should have disclosed that it was not immune to an attack, as it strains credulity to allege that any consumer thinks that any retailer is impervious from attacks by criminals. Nor can Plaintiffs’ implication that Michaels was aware that its card processing system lacked proper safeguards meet the plausibility test of Twombly, as Plaintiffs allege no facts, rather than bare conclusions, that Michaels knew of any alleged vulnerability of its system.

Under both Illinois and New York law, an alleged failure to perform promises made is simply a breach of contract and, without more, is not a deceptive trade practice. See, e.g., Shaw v. Hyatt Int'l Corp., 461 F.3d 899, 901 (7th Cir. 2006) (dismissing consumer fraud claim that relied on promises made on defendant's website, and was therefore premised on breach of contract claim); Langendorf v. Conseco Senior Health Ins. Co., 590 F. Supp. 2d 1020, 1023-24 (N.D. Ill. 2008) (dismissing CFA claim because it was based on little more than an alleged breach of contract); Fleisher v. Phoenix Life Ins. Co., 858 F. Supp. 2d 290, 304 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) ("loss suffered as a result of [the defendant's] alleged breach of § 349 must be independent of the loss alleged under the breach of contract claim"). Thus, the facts alleged by Plaintiffs cannot form the basis of a CFA or GBL claim.

Second, and as discussed above in Section III.B, Plaintiffs' allegations of harm based on an increased risk of future identity theft, costs taken to mitigate the increased risk of identity theft, and damages as a result of "overpaying" for goods and services are insufficient, as a matter of law, to allege harm. Under the CFA, Plaintiffs must allege a purely economic loss. Morris v. Harvey Cycle & Camper, Inc., 911 N.E.2d 1049, 1053 (Ill. App. Ct. 2009) (affirming dismissal where plaintiff alleged only emotional, not economic, loss). The alleged injuries suffered by Plaintiffs, including those based on the fear of future identity theft, are not the types of injuries permitted by the CFA.<sup>13</sup>

<sup>13</sup> See, e.g., Cooney v. Chi. Pub. Sch., 943 N.E.2d 23, 31 (Ill. App. Ct. 2010) (affirming dismissal of CFA action where plaintiff alleged injury of increased risk of future identity theft and the purchase of credit monitoring services); Worix v. MedAssets, Inc., 857 F. Supp. 2d 699, 706 (N.D. Ill. 2012) (dismissing CFA claim concluding that allegations of increased risk of identity theft and cost of credit monitoring were insufficient to establish injury); In re Michaels Stores Pin Pad Litig., 830 F. Supp. 2d 518

Nor can the allegation, as discussed above in Section III.B.3, that the allegedly deceptive conduct caused Plaintiffs' purported injuries, save Plaintiffs' claims. See Stutman, 95 N.Y.2d at 29; Toney, 2012 WL 567729, at *5. Under New York law, deception alone—i.e., allegations of pecuniary loss arising solely from the purchase of the product—is insufficient to state a GBL § 349 claim. See Small v. Lorillard Tobacco Co., Inc., 94 N.Y.2d 43, 56 (N.Y. 1999) (holding that there can be no GBL § 349 claim where plaintiffs allege that they never would have bought cigarettes if they had known that cigarettes were addictive).

Third, Plaintiffs also have failed sufficiently to allege that the allegedly unfair or deceptive practice was intentional and inured to the benefit of Michaels. Although they make conclusory allegations, the situation here is similar to that in Richardson v. DSW, Inc., where this Court held that the plaintiff could not plead that the defendant “intentionally engaged in an unfair or deceptive act or practice” where an unknown person stole credit card information from a computer system. No. 05 C 4599, 2005 WL 2978755, at *5 (N.D. Ill. Nov. 3, 2005) (citing Parks v. Wells Fargo Home Mortgage, Inc., 398 F.3d 937, 942 (7th Cir. 2005)). The Court further held, as a matter of law, that “there is no conceivable benefit that could flow to [defendant] as a result of the fact that an unauthorized person hacked into its computers and stole purchasers' credit information.” Id. Indeed, the suggestion that a retailer benefits from being hacked is absurd, and no facts are alleged that Michaels intentionally allowed Plaintiffs' credit card information to be stolen from its computer system.

Finally, the Complaint does not allege “fraudulent” conduct with the particularity required by the heightened pleading standard of Rule 9(b). “Because a claim for deceptive conduct under the ICFA sounds in fraud, Plaintiff is required to plead with particularity facts such as who made the fraudulent statements or undertook the fraudulent actions, when they were made or undertaken, and how they were made or undertaken.” Typpi v. PNC Bank, N.A., No. 13-CV-3930, 2014 WL 296035, at *9 (N.D. Ill. Jan. 27, 2014) (Bucklo, J.) (citing Windy City Metal Fabricators & Supply, Inc. v. CIT Tech. Fin. Servs., Inc., 536 F.3d 663 (7th Cir. 2008)).

(dismissing CFA claim for failure to plead a deceptive act and holding that “Michaels is correct that Plaintiffs suffered no actual injury under the ICFA if Plaintiffs were reimbursed for all unauthorized withdrawals and bank fees and, thus, suffered no out-of-pocket losses.”).

Plaintiffs here provide no specificity regarding the deceptive or fraudulent conduct, and the vague allegations “devoid of names, dates or other specific information will not suffice.” See id. For all of these reasons, the Complaint should be dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim.

IV. CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs’ Complaint should be dismissed. Plaintiffs lack standing under Article III to bring these claims. And even if Plaintiffs could establish standing, the Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Therefore, the Complaint must be dismissed.

Dated: May 28, 2014

A Letter From Our CEO

January 25, 2014

To Our Valued Michaels Customers:

As you may have read in the news, data security attacks against retailers have become a major topic of concern. We recently learned of possible fraudulent activity on some U.S. payment cards that had been used at Michaels, suggesting we may have experienced a data security attack.

We are working closely with federal law enforcement and are conducting an investigation with the help of third-party data security experts to establish the facts. Although the investigation is ongoing, based on the information we have received and in light of the widely-reported criminal efforts to penetrate the data systems of U.S. retailers, we believe it is appropriate to notify our customers that a potential issue may have occurred.

Throughout our 40-year history, our customers have always been our number one priority and we deeply regret any inconvenience this may cause. The privacy and security of our customers' information is of critical importance to us and we are focused on addressing this issue.

We recommend that you remain vigilant by reviewing your account statements for unauthorized charges. If you believe your payment card may have been affected, you should immediately contact your bank or card issuer. If we find as part of our investigation that any of our customers were affected, we will offer identity protection and credit monitoring services to them at no cost.

We will provide updates on our website (www.michaels.com) as our investigation continues. In the meantime, if you have any questions, please call us toll-free at 1- 877-412-7145. Representatives will be available to answer questions beginning Sunday January 26, 2014, with operating hours Monday through Saturday from 8:00 a.m. CST to 11:00 p.m. CST and Sunday from 8:00 a.m. CST to 8:00 p.m. CST.

We apologize and truly regret any concern this may cause you.

Sincerely,

Chuck Rubin
CEO, Michaels Stores

A Letter From Our CEO

April 17, 2014

Dear Valued Customers:

In January, we notified you that we might have experienced a data security incident. We wanted you to know quickly so you could take steps to monitor activity on your payment card account.

Since that time, we have continued our extensive investigation with the help of two independent, expert security firms. We have also been working closely with law enforcement authorities and coordinating with banks and payment processors to determine the facts.

After weeks of analysis, we have discovered evidence confirming that systems of Michaels stores in the United States and our subsidiary, Aaron Brothers, were attacked by criminals using highly sophisticated malware that had not been encountered previously by either of the security firms.

We want you to know we have identified and fully contained the incident, and we can assure you the malware no longer presents a threat to customers while shopping at Michaels or Aaron Brothers.

Here are additional facts we have determined from our continuing investigation:

- The affected systems contained certain payment card information, such as payment card number and expiration date, about both Michaels and Aaron Brothers customers. There is no evidence that other customer personal information, such as name, address or PIN, was at risk in connection with this issue.
- Regarding Michaels stores, the attack targeted a limited portion of the point-of-sale systems at a varying number of stores between May 8, 2013 and January 27, 2014. Only a small percentage of payment cards used in the affected stores during the times of exposure were impacted by this issue. The analysis conducted by the security firms and the Company shows that approximately 2.6 million cards may have been impacted, which represents about 7% of payment cards used at Michaels stores in the U.S. during the relevant time period. The locations and potential dates of exposure for each affected Michaels store are listed on www.michaels.com.
- Regarding Aaron Brothers, the Company has confirmed that between June 26, 2013 and February 27, 2014, 54 Aaron Brothers stores were affected by this malware. The Company estimates that approximately 400,000 cards were potentially impacted during this period. The locations for each affected Aaron Brothers store are listed on www.aaronbrothers.com.
- The Company has received a limited number of reports from the payment card brands and banks of fraudulent use of payment cards potentially connected to Michaels or Aaron Brothers.

We are truly sorry and deeply regret any inconvenience this may cause. Our customers are always our number one priority and we are committed to retaining your trust and loyalty.

While we have received limited reports of fraud, we are offering identity protection and credit monitoring services to affected Michaels and Aaron Brothers customers in the U.S. for 12 months at no cost to them. We also are offering these customers a fraud assistance service for 12 months at no cost to them. This service provides customers with a trained representative to assist them in the event they experience a fraud-related issue resulting from this incident. Information on the services can be found here.

We encourage you to actively monitor all of your payment card account activity and immediately contact your bank or card issuer if you notice any suspicious activity. You can find more security tips and information on this website.

In an era where very sophisticated and determined criminals have proven capable of successfully attacking a wide range of computer networks, we must all increase our level of vigilance. We are committed to working with other parties to improve the security of payment card transactions for all consumers.

If you have any questions or would like more information, please call us toll-free at 1-877-412-7145. Representatives are available to answer your questions Monday through Saturday from 8:00 a.m. CT to 8:00 p.m. CT.

We appreciate your patience and sincerely apologize again for any inconvenience this may have caused you. Thank you for your continued support.

Sincerely,

Chuck Rubin
CEO, Michaels Stores, Inc.

EXHIBIT D

STATE OF ILLINOIS ) COUNTY OF LAKE ) SS

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE NINETEENTH
JUDICIAL CIRCUIT, LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS

FILED

MAY 27 2014

Keith Brim
CIRCUIT CLERK

VERONICA VIDES, ET AL.,

PLAINTIFFS,

VS.

Case No. 13-CH-2701

ADVOCATE HEALTH AND HOSPITALS
CORPORATION D/B/A ADVOCATE
MEDICAL GROUP,

DEFENDANT.

Memorandum Opinion and Order

This matter now comes before the Court on the Defendant's combined 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9) and 735 ILCS 5/2-615 motion to dismiss the Complaint filed by Plaintiffs, Veronica Vides, et al. Having heard arguments on the motion, considered the statutory authority and case law, and being fully advised in the premises, the Court now FINDS AS FOLLOWS:

Background

Advocate Medical Group (hereinafter "Advocate") is an Illinois corporation with its principal place of business in Downers Grove, Illinois. (Compl. ¶22.) Advocate is a network of affiliated doctors and hospitals that systematically and regularly conduct business in and throughout Lake County Illinois. (Compl. ¶23.) Advocate, during the regular course of its business, collected and maintained possession, custody, and control of a wide variety of patient's personal and confidential information, including: Patients' names, addresses, dates of birth, Social Security numbers, treating physician and/or departments for each individual, their medical diagnoses, medical record numbers, medical service codes, and health insurance information. (Compl. ¶33.) At all relevant times, Plaintiffs were patients of Advocate. (Compl. ¶32.) Advocate stored Plaintiffs' personal, private and confidential data in an unencrypted format on four laptop computers at Advocate's administrative offices in Park Ridge, Illinois. (Compl. ¶34.) On or about July 15, 2013, the four laptop computers containing Plaintiffs' personal and confidential information were removed from Advocates Park Ridge facility during a burglary. (Compl. ¶37.) On August 23, 2013, Advocate sent out letters to affected patients, notifying them of the breach of the security of the system data. (Compl. ¶46.)

As of the current date, Advocate is unaware of the whereabouts of the four laptop computers and their respective hard drives containing the personal, private and confidential patient data. (Compl. ¶38.)

Plaintiffs have filed a Class Action against Defendant, Advocate, alleging six causes of action: (I) Negligence; (II) Violation of Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act; (III) Invasion of Privacy by Public Disclosure of Private Facts; (IV) Consumer Fraud Act; (V) Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress; and (VI) Injunctive Relief. Plaintiffs in this action were:

All persons who were, prior to July 15, 2013, (1) treated at any ADVOCATE facility and/or (2) treated by a physician, physician assistant, nurse, nurse practitioner, technician, laboratory assistant, or any other medical specialist, who was employed by and/or contracted with ADVOCATE to provide treatment and/or care, and who was caused to provide ADVOCATE with personal, private and/or confidential information, including but not limited to names, addresses, dates of birth, social security numbers, health insurance data, medical diagnoses, diagnoses codes, and medical record numbers. (Compl. ¶25.)

Plaintiffs claim they suffered different types of injuries due to the security breach, including: increased risk of identity theft and/or fraud, out-of-pocket expenses incurred to mitigate the increased risk of identity theft and/or fraud, time lost mitigating the increased risk of identity theft and/or fraud, loss of privacy, and anxiety and emotional distress. (Compl. ¶68.)

Advocate moves to dismiss the Complaint pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9) and 735 ILCS 5/2-615, asserting both lack of standing to bring the claims alleged in the Complaint and failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

Discussion

I. Standing

Section 2-619(a)(9) permits involuntary dismissal where “the claim asserted against defendant is barred by other affirmative matter avoiding the legal effect of or defeating the claim.” 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9) (West 2014). Lack of standing is an “affirmative matter” that is properly raised under section 2-619(a)(9). See Greer v. Illinois Housing Development Authority, 122 Ill.2d 462, 494 (1988) (holding that lack of standing is an “affirmative” defense).

The doctrine of standing is designed to preclude persons who have no interest in a controversy from bringing suit. The doctrine assures that issues are raised only by those parties with a real interest in the outcome of the controversy. Glisson v. City of Marion, 188 Ill.2d 211, 221 (1999). The general principle was set forth in Greer v. Illinois Housing Development Authority. The claimed injury, whether “actual or threatened” must be: (1) “distinct and palpable”; (2) “fairly traceable” to the defendant’s actions; and (3) substantially likely to be prevented or redressed by the grant of the requested relief. Id. at 492-93.

a. Increased Risk of Future Harm

Plaintiffs argue injury in the form of increased risk of identity theft and/or fraud due to the exposure of their personal information. Plaintiffs have not cited an Illinois decision specifically addressing the issue of standing in this circumstance. However, the Illinois Supreme Court has held that “as a matter of law, an increased risk of future harm is an element of damages that can be recovered for a present injury—it is not the injury itself,” Williams v. Manchester, 228 Ill.2d 404, 425 (2008) (emphasis in original). Applying Williams, the federal courts have held that a plaintiff whose personal data had been compromised “may collect damages based on the increased risk of future harm he incurred, but only if he can show that he suffered from some present injury beyond the mere exposure of his information to the public.” Rowe v. UniCare Life and Health Ins. Co., No. 09 C 2286, 2010 WL 86391, at *6 (N.D.Ill. 2010).

A recent decision by the United States Supreme Court appears to have addressed the issue of whether a court can confer standing based on the risk of future harm. In Clapper v. Amnesty Intern'l USA, 133 S.Ct. 1138 (2012), the Supreme Court dismissed for lack of standing a suit brought by attorneys and organizers who alleged that their communications were likely to be monitored under a purportedly unconstitutional federal surveillance statute, given that they worked with persons likely to be targeted for surveillance. As explained in Clapper, “allegations of possible future injury are not sufficient” to establish standing. Id. at 1147. The Court acknowledged that “imminence is concededly a somewhat elastic concept,” but reemphasized its statements in prior cases that to confer standing the threatened injury must be “certainly impending.” Id. at 1147, 1160. Employing that standard, the Clapper Court held that the threat of government interception of private communications between the plaintiffs and foreign contacts suspected of terrorism was too speculative to confer standing on the plaintiffs to challenge the law authorizing government surveillance of “non-United States persons” because realization of the harm alleged—the interception of the plaintiffs' communications with such persons—was dependent on a variety of events and actions by independent third parties that might never come to pass. Id. at 1148–50.

In the present matter, Clapper compels rejection of Plaintiffs' argument that an increased risk of identity theft is sufficient to satisfy the injury-in-fact requirement for standing. Whether Plaintiffs actually become victims of identity theft as a result of the removal of the computers depends on a number of variables, such as whether their data was actually taken after the removal, whether it was subsequently sold or otherwise transferred, whether anyone who obtained the data attempted to use it, and whether or not they succeeded. Plaintiffs' Complaint provides no basis to believe that any of these events have come to pass or are imminent. Like the plaintiffs in Clapper, the harm that Plaintiffs fear is contingent on a chain of attenuated hypothetical events and actions by third parties independent of the defendant. Id. at 1148. Although Plaintiffs do not need to show that they are “literally certain” they will be victims of identity theft and/or fraud, they have not alleged facts that would plausibly establish an “imminent” or “certainly impending” risk that they will be victimized. Under Clapper, the mere fact that the risk has been increased does not suffice to establish standing.

The Federal Courts of Appeal have examined this issue and this Court finds persuasive the reasoning in the line of cases rejecting risk of harm as an injury-in-fact in the context of data breaches. See, e.g., Reilly v. Ceridian Corp., 664 F.3d 38, 42 (3rd Cir. 2011) (finding plaintiffs lacked standing because harm depended on third parties reading, copying, and understanding their personal information, intending to use such information to commit future criminal acts, and being able to make unauthorized transactions in plaintiffs' names in the future); In re Barnes & Noble Pin Pad Litig., 2013 WL 4759588, at *3 (N.D.Ill. 2013) (citing Clapper and stating,

“[m]erely alleging an increased risk of identity theft or fraud is insufficient to establish standing.”); Hammond v. The Bank of New York Mellon Corp., 2010 WL 2643307, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) (“Plaintiffs here do not have Article III standing (i.e., there is no “case or controversy”) because they claim to have suffered little more than an increased risk of future harm from the loss (whether by accident or theft) of their personal information.”); Allison v. Aetna, Inc., 2010 WL 3719243, at *5 (E.D.Pa. 2010) (granting motion to dismiss for lack of standing because the plaintiffs “alleged injury of an increased risk of identity theft is far too speculative.”); Amburgy v. Express Scripts, Inc., 671 F.Supp.2d 1046, 1052 (E.D.Mo. 2009) (“[P]laintiff surmises that, as a result of the security breach, he faces an increased risk of identity theft at an unknown point in the future. On the facts as alleged in the Complaint, it cannot be said that the alleged injury to plaintiff is imminent.”); Hinton v. Heartland Payment Sys., Inc., 2009 WL 704139, at *1 (D.N.J. Mar. 16, 2009) (sua sponte dismissing case because plaintiff’s allegations of increased risk of identity theft and fraud “amount to nothing more than mere speculation.”); Randolph v. ING Life Ins. and Annuity Co., 486 F.Supp.2d 1, 8 (D.D.C.2007) (“Plaintiffs’ allegations therefore amount to mere speculation that at some unspecified point in the indefinite future they will be the victims of identity theft.”); Key v. DSW, Inc., 454 F.Supp.2d 684, 689 (S.D.Ohio 2006) (“In the identity theft context, courts have embraced the general rule that an alleged increase in risk of future injury is not an ‘actual or imminent’ injury.”); Bell v. Acxiom Corp., 2006 WL 2850042, at *2 (E.D.Ark. 2006) (rejecting plaintiff’s allegation of increased risk of identity theft and stating, “[b]ecause Plaintiff has not alleged that she has suffered any concrete damages, she does not have standing under the case-or-controversy requirement.”).

This Court acknowledges the holdings of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh and Ninth Circuits finding that the mere increased risk of theft or fraud is sufficiently concrete injury-in-fact to confer standing. See Pisciotta v. Old Nat'l Bancorp., 499 F.3d 629 (7th Cir. 2007); Krottner v. Starbucks Corp., 628 F.3d 1139 (9th Cir. 2010). However, those cases were decided prior to Clapper. The Pisciotta court held “a threat of future harm or . . . an act which harms the plaintiff only by increasing the risk of future harm that the plaintiff would have otherwise faced, absent the defendant’s actions” is sufficient to find standing. Pisciotta, 499 F.3d at 634. However, this holding did not discuss or address the requirement that a threat of harm be “imminent” or “certainly impending”. Further, the “not merely speculative” standard for injury-in-fact, set forth by Krottner, does not stand up to the reasoning and holding in Clapper. More is required under Clapper to show that an injury is certainly impending.

The Court therefore finds that the increased risk that Plaintiffs will be victims of identity theft and/or identity fraud at some indeterminate point in the future does not constitute injury sufficient to confer standing. The occurrence of such future injury rests on the criminal actions of independent decision makers and the Plaintiffs’ Complaint lacks sufficient factual allegations to show such future injury is imminent or certainly impending.

b. Statutory violations

Plaintiffs have alleged Defendants violated the Personal Information Protection Act (hereinafter “PIPA”) by waiting six weeks to notify Plaintiffs’ of the removal of the computers containing their personal information instead of notifying them “immediately following discovery” or notifying them “in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay.” 815 ILCS 530/10(a) (West 2014); (Compl. ¶¶60, 61.) A violation of PIPA constitutes an unlawful practice under the Consumer Fraud and deceptive Business Practices Act (hereinafter "ICFA"). 815 ILCS 530/20 (West 2014).

Additionally, Plaintiffs allege Defendants violated the ICFA by making Plaintiffs' social security numbers available to the public when the four computers were removed from Defendant's administrative building. (Compl. ¶72.) The violations of these Acts, argue Plaintiffs, constitute actual injury sufficient to convey standing.

However, this argument is misplaced. Even assuming the statutes have been violated by the delay or inadequacy of Defendant's notification, breach of these statutes is insufficient to establish standing without any actual damages due to the breach. People ex rel. Madigan v. United Const. of Am., Inc., 2012 IL App 120308, ¶15 (1st Dist. 2013). The ICFA provision cited by the Plaintiffs in their Supplemental Brief stipulates there must be damage beyond the mere violation of the statute. 815 ILCS 505/10a(c) (West 2014) (relief is granted to "[a]ny person who suffers actual damage as a result of a violation of this Act."). Accordingly, the purported untimely or inadequate notification of the security breach by Defendants is insufficient to establish Plaintiffs suffered actual injury for purposes of Article III standing. In re Barnes & Noble Pin Pad Litig., 2013 WL 4759588 (N.D. Ill. 2013).

Thus, statutory violations by themselves are insufficient to establish standing. The Plaintiffs' Complaint must include allegations that they have been damaged by the violations to establish standing. Strautins v. Trustwave Holdings, Inc., 12 C 09115, 2014 WL 960816 (N.D. Ill. 2014); see also FMC Corp. v. Boesky, 852 F.2d 981, 998 (7th Cir.1988). The complaint fails to do so.

c. Time and Expenses Incurred to Mitigate Risks of Identity Theft

Plaintiffs contend they suffered injury by incurring time and expenses for creditor monitoring and incurring costs to mitigate the increased risk of identity theft and/or identity fraud. The Complaint states the Plaintiffs “suffered and will continue to suffer ... out-of-pocket expenses incurred to mitigate the increased risk of identity theft and/or identity fraud. . . the value of their time spent mitigating actual or the increased risk of identity theft and/or identity fraud...” (Compl. ¶68.) This Court disagrees.

Such injury does not suffice to confer standing because Plaintiffs “cannot manufacture standing merely by inflicting harm on themselves based on their fears of hypothetical future harm that is not certainly impending.” Clapper, 133 S.Ct. at 1143, 1151 (rejecting respondents’ alternative argument that they were suffering “present injury because the risk of ... surveillance already has forced them to take costly and burdensome measures to protect the confidentiality of their international communications.”). “[A]llowing [Plaintiffs] to bring this action based on costs they incurred in response to a speculative threat would be tantamount to accepting a repackaged version of [Plaintiffs’] first failed theory of standing.” Id. (citing Am. Civil Liberties Union v. Nat’l Sec. Agency, 493 F.3d 655, 656–57 (6th Cir.2007)).

Lower federal courts have rejected Plaintiffs’ argument in the data breach context as well. See, e.g., Reilly, 664 F.3d at 46 (“costs incurred to watch for a speculative chain of future events based on hypothetical future criminal acts are no more ‘actual’ injuries than the alleged ‘increased risk of injury’ which forms the basis for Appellants’ claims.”); Brit Ins. Holdings N.V. v. Krantz, 2012 WL 28342, at *9 (N.D. Ohio 2012) (“defendants’ expenditure of resources to investigate the ramifications of plaintiffs’ disclosure, and to purchase personal credit and identity protection services to protect against future harm, are insufficient to demonstrate that defendants suffered an actual injury-in-fact.”); Giordano v. Wachovia Sec., LLC, 2006 WL 2177036, at *4 (D.N.J. 2006) (“Plaintiffs allegations that ... she will incur costs associated with obtaining credit monitoring services in order to prevent identity theft simply does not rise to the level of creating a concrete and particularized injury.”).

d. Anxiety and Emotional Distress

For the same reasons as stated in the above section, Plaintiffs' claim of injury in the form of anxiety and emotional distress is insufficient to establish standing. Any anxiety or emotional distress suffered by Plaintiffs' is not based on an imminent threat, but future criminal acts that are only speculative. As noted above, the anxiety or distress incurred “in response to a speculative threat would be tantamount to accepting a repackaged version of [Plaintiffs'] first failed theory of standing.” Clapper, 133 S.Ct. at 1143, 1151.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and at least one lower federal court have addressed emotional distress as an injury in fact in the context of a data breach. See Reilly v. Ceridian Corp., 664 F.3d 38, 42–43 (3d Cir.2011) (Emotional distress in the wake of a security breach is insufficient to establish standing, particularly in a case that does not involve an imminent threat to the information); In re Barnes & Noble Pin Pad Litig., 2013 WL 4759588 (N.D. Ill. Sept. 3, 2013) (“[Plaintiff's] anxiety following the security breach is insufficient to establish standing, as there is no indication there is an imminent threat of her information being used in a malicious way. . .”).

Thus, this Court finds no standing conferred based on anxiety or emotional distress suffered by Plaintiffs.

e. Loss of Privacy

Injury in the form of loss of privacy is insufficient to establish standing in this case.

Necessary to a claim of loss of privacy is the disclosure of personal information. However, Plaintiffs have not pled any facts to support the allegations that the information was disclosed. It appears Plaintiffs seek to establish that their information was disclosed because computers were removed from Defendant's administrative offices. The inference that the data on the computers was disclosed, based on the computers themselves being removed from the offices, is too tenuous to support a reasonable inference that can be made in Plaintiffs' favor. Without the inference that Plaintiffs' information was disclosed at all, there is only speculation that Plaintiffs have suffered the injury of loss of privacy in this matter.

In sum, Plaintiffs' Complaint does not sufficiently allege that the injury of identity theft and/or identity fraud is certainly impending. Therefore, the increased risk of such injury does not suffice to confer standing. Additionally, Plaintiffs cannot create standing by choosing to make expenditures in order to mitigate a purely speculative harm or by alleging anxiety and emotional distress based on the speculative harm. Further, the allegations in the complaint do not support the conclusion that any information has been disclosed. Therefore, there can be no actual injury for loss of privacy, which requires disclosure of information. Accordingly, none of Plaintiffs' claimed injuries constitute an injury-in-fact sufficient to confer standing for Plaintiffs' negligence, violation of PIPA, violation of ICFA, invasion of privacy, and intentional infliction of emotional distress claims.

II. Failure to State a Claim

In the alternative, Defendant argues that if Plaintiffs' assertions of various injuries are sufficient to confer standing to bring the instant causes of action, the Complaint should nevertheless be dismissed under 735 ILCS 2-615 for failure to state a claim.

A section 2-615 motion does not raise affirmative factual defenses, but attacks the legal sufficiency of a complaint by alleging only defects on the face of the complaint. Bryson v. News America Publications, Inc., 174 Ill.2d 77, 86 (1996). A court must determine whether the allegations of the complaint, when viewed in a light most favorable to the plaintiff, are sufficient to state a cause of action upon which relief can be granted. Id.; Urbaitis v. Commonwealth Edison, 143 Ill.2d 458, 475 (1991). "A cause of action should not be dismissed on the pleadings unless it clearly appears that no set of facts can be proved under the pleadings which will entitle the plaintiff to recover." Id.; Gouge v. Central Illinois Public Service Co., 144 Ill.2d 535, 542 (1991).

Moreover, Illinois is a fact-pleading jurisdiction. A plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to bring his or her claim within the scope of the cause of action asserted. Anderson v. Vanden Dorpel, 172 Ill.2d 399, 408 (1996); People ex rel. Fahner v. Carriage Way West, Inc., 88 Ill.2d 300, 308 (1981). When reviewing a motion to dismiss under 735 ILCS 2-615, "a court must disregard the conclusions that are pleaded and look only to well-pleaded facts to determine whether they are sufficient to state a cause of action against the defendant." City of Chicago v. Beretta U.S.A Corp., 213 Ill. 2d 351, 368 (2004).

Against this backdrop, the Court turns to each of Plaintiffs' claims to determine whether they state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

a. Negligence

In Count I of the Complaint, Plaintiffs allege the following: (1) Defendant had a duty to securely maintain, and not disseminate Plaintiffs' personal, private and confidential health information; (2) On or about July 15, 2013, Defendant wrongfully permitted the unauthorized and unlawful disclosure of Plaintiffs' personal, private and confidential information; and (3) As a result of Defendant's acts and omissions, Plaintiffs suffered personal and pecuniary damages. (Compl. ¶¶49, ¶54, ¶55.)

To succeed on their negligence claims, plaintiffs must allege and prove that (1) defendants owed a duty to plaintiffs; (2) defendants breached that duty; and (3) the breach caused injury to plaintiffs. Cooney v. Chicago Public Schools, 407 Ill.App.3d 358, 361 (1st Dist. 2010). Defendant argues that Plaintiffs' allegations fail to state a claim for relief inasmuch as Plaintiff fails to allege a compensable injury resulting in damage. This Court agrees.

Plaintiffs argue that they have suffered a present injury and damage in the loss and disclosure of their personal data and confidential medical information, from which future damages can flow. (Pl. Brief in Resp., Pg. 9) However, even Plaintiffs' argument acknowledges that they have not suffered actual damages such as the loss of property or money but rather, if anything, alleges only that they are subject to an increased risk of identity theft and they might now have to pay for credit monitoring.

In the somewhat analogous context of toxic tort liability, Illinois courts have suggested that compensable damage requires more than an exposure to a future potential harm. See Betts v. Manville Personal Injury Settlement Trust, 225 Ill.App.3d 882, 898 (4th Dist. 1992); Morrissy v. Eli Lilly & Co., 76 Ill.App.3d 753, 761 (1st Dist. 1979). Indeed, the Illinois Supreme Court in Williams v. Manchester, 228 Ill. 2d 404 (2008), held a plaintiff must show "a present, actionable injury” resulting from radiation exposure. Specifically, the Williams court stated, “[A]s a matter of law, an increased risk of future harm is an element of damages that can be recovered for a present injury – it is not the injury itself.” Id. at 425.

In federal court, the Seventh Circuit conducted such an examination to determine whether Indiana negligence law supported allegations similar to the Plaintiffs’ against a bank whose website was breached by a hacker. Pisciotta v. Old Nat’l Bancorp. 499 F.3d 629 (7th Cir., 2007). After finding that no Indiana case established that credit monitoring costs constituted present injury, the court found that analogous cases from other jurisdictions all “rel[ie]d] on the same basic premise: Without more than allegations of increased risk of future identity theft, the plaintiffs have not suffered a harm that the law is prepared to remedy.” Id. at 639.

Like the Seventh Circuit in Pisciotta, numerous federal courts applying state law have come to the same conclusion. See, e.g., Krottner v. Starbucks Corp., 406 Fed.Appx. 129, 131–32 (9th Cir.2010); Amburgy v. Express Scripts, Inc., 671 F.Supp.2d 1046, 1054–55 (E.D.Mo.2009); Belle Chasse Auto. Care, Inc. v. Advanced Auto Parts, Inc., 2009 WL 799760, at *3 (E.D.La. Mar. 24, 2009); Caudle v. Towers, Perrin, Forster & Crosby, Inc., 580 F.Supp.2d 273, 281–82 (S.D.N.Y.2008); Hendricks v. DSW Shoe Warehouse, Inc., 444 F.Supp.2d 775, 783 (W.D.Mich.2006); Forbes v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 420 F.Supp.2d 1018, 1020–21 (D.Minn.2006). In so holding, courts have sometimes noted that plaintiffs asserting these claims “have pointed to no case decided anywhere in the country where a court allowed a negligence claim to survive absent an allegation of actual identity theft.” McLoughlin v. People’s United Bank, Inc., 2009 WL 2843269, at *8 (D.Conn. 2009); see also Hammond v. Bank of New York Mellon Corp., 2010 WL 2643307, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) (collecting cases).

Many other decisions have echoed this reasoning. The Oregon Supreme Court held that allegations that did not include “actual identity theft or financial harm, other than credit monitoring and similar mitigation costs” did not allege sufficient “present injury” under the state’s “well-established negligence requirements.” Paul v. Providence Health System—Oregon, 351 Or. 587, 597 (2012) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). The District of Columbia Court of Appeals has ruled similarly, citing a significant number of analogous decisions from other jurisdictions. Randolph v. ING Life Ins. and Annuity Co., 973 A.2d 702, 708 (D.C.2009) (collecting cases). In particular, the court cited Shafran v. Harley-Davidson, Inc., 2008 WL 763177, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. 2008), in which it was noted that “[c]ourts have uniformly ruled that the time and expense of credit monitoring to combat an increased risk of future identity theft is not, in itself, an injury that the law [of negligence] is prepared to remedy.”

This Court holds that nothing in Plaintiffs’ Complaint alleges actual injury or damages. Failure to state sufficient facts to constitute a legally cognizable present injury or damage mandates dismissal of the action. Verb v. Motorola, Inc., 284 Ill.App.3d 460, 471 (1st Dist. 1996). As plaintiff’s claims of negligence require actual injury or damage, this Court holds Plaintiffs’ negligence claim is dismissed.

b. Consumer Fraud Act

Plaintiffs have alleged Defendants violated the Personal Information Protection Act and the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act and claim they have or will incur economic damages as a result of the Defendant’s acts. (Compl. ¶73.)

As set forth in Cooney v. Chicago Public Schools, 407 Ill.App.3d 358 (1st Dist. 2010), Plaintiffs must allege actual damages to bring a Consumer Fraud Act action. See 815 ILCS 505/10a(a) (West 2014) (“[a]ny person who suffers actual damage as a result of a violation of this Act committed by any other person may bring an action against such person”); Morris v. Harvey Cycle & Camper, Inc., 392 Ill.App.3d 399, 402 (1st Dist. 2009) (“[t]he failure to allege specific, actual damages precludes a claim brought under the Consumer Fraud Act”). To support a Consumer Fraud Act claim, actual damages must arise from “purely economic injuries.” Morris, 392 Ill.App.3d at 402.

Plaintiffs attempt to distinguish the Cooney case from the present matter, but fail because the court in Cooney directly addressed whether an increased risk of future identity theft can serve as actual damages to support a Consumer Fraud Act claim. The court in Cooney concluded the following:

In Yu v. International Business Machines Corp., 314 Ill.App.3d 892, 247 Ill.Dec. 841, 732 N.E.2d 1173 (2000), we held that allegations of potential harm arising from a software defect were insufficient to support a Consumer Fraud Act claim, justifying a section 2–615 dismissal. Without actual injury or damage, the plaintiff’s claims “constitute[d] conjecture and speculation.” Yu, 314 Ill.App.3d at 897, 247 Ill.Dec. 841, 732 N.E.2d 1173. See also Williams v. Manchester, 228 Ill.2d 404, 425, 320 Ill.Dec. 784, 888 N.E.2d 1 (2008) (“as a matter of law, an increased risk of future harm is an element of damages that can be recovered for a present injury—it is not the injury itself”) (emphasis in original); Pisciotta v. Old National Bancorp., 499 F.3d 629, 639 (7th Cir.2007) (“[w]ithout more than allegations of increased risk of future identity theft, the plaintiffs have not suffered a harm that the law is prepared to remedy”); Morris, 392 Ill.App.3d at 403, 331 Ill.Dec. 819, 911 N.E.2d 1049, citing Xydakis v. Target, Inc., 333 F.Supp.2d 686, 688 (N.D.Ill.2004) (“[t]here is no cause of action under the Consumer Fraud Act when a plaintiff alleges only aggravation and not actual damages”).

Cooney v. Chicago Public Schools, 407 Ill. App. 3d at 366.

Plaintiffs’ argument that damages under the ICFA can be presumed from the language of the ICFA is wholly misplaced. Plaintiffs cite no authority for this proposition other than quoting the language of 815 ILCS 505/10a(a) stating, “The court, in its discretion may award actual economic damages or any other relief.” However, the Plaintiff fails to recognize the significance of the first sentence of section 10a(a) which requires a person to suffer actual damage before bringing a cause of action. First, actual damages must be present, and then a court may award economic damages or other relief. Further, this Court is bound by decisions of the Second District appellate court holding, “damages may not be presumed under the Consumer Fraud Act.” Duran v. Leslie Oldsmobile, Inc., 229 Ill.App.3d 1032, 1041 (2nd Dist. 1992); See Avery v. State Farm Mutual Ins. Co., 216 Ill.2d 100, 196 (2005) (“The language of the Consumer Fraud Act is plain. A plaintiff must prove ‘actual damage’ before he or she can recover under the Act.”).

The Cooney case also held that the purchase of credit monitoring services cannot establish actual damages to support an ICFA claim, citing federal authority. Cooney v. Chicago Public Schools, 407 Ill.App at 366; See Rowe v. UniCare Life & Health Insurance Co., 2010 WL 86391 (N.D.Ill. 2010) (finding the provision of credit monitoring services by the defendants “does not resolve the question of whether credit monitoring costs are actual damages” and finding that “the costs of credit monitoring services are not a present harm in and of themselves”); Aliano v. Texas Roadhouse Holdings LLC, 2008 WL 5397510 (N.D.Ill. 2008) (finding that the purchase of credit monitoring services does not constitute actual damages and citing district courts in Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and New York in agreement); see also Harris v. Wal-Mart Stores Inc., 2008 WL 5085132 (N.D.Ill. 2008) (rejecting claim for damages under the Credit and Debit Card Receipt Clarification Act of 2007, Pub.L. No. 110-241, 122 Stat. 1565 (2008) (codified at 15 U.S.C. § 1681) for the cost of credit monitoring services).

Thus, Counts II and IV of Plaintiffs’ Complaint alleging violations of PIPA and ICFA are not viable causes of action. Plaintiffs’ have not alleged actual damages arising from violations of the statutes and cannot rely on speculative future damages or presumed damages to support their claims.

c. Invasion of Privacy By Public Disclosure of Private Facts

To state a cause of action for this tort, the plaintiff must plead and prove that (1) publicity was given to the disclosure of private facts; (2) the facts were private, and not public, facts; and (3) the matter made public was such as to be highly offensive to a reasonable person. Miller v. Motorola, Inc., 202 Ill.App.3d 976, 978 (1st Dist. 1990).

First, there is no allegation in the Complaint that Defendant disclosed Plaintiffs' private information. While the Complaint alleges Defendant permitted the unauthorized and unlawful disclosure and dissemination of Plaintiffs' personal, private and confidential information, that allegation is conclusory. There are no factual allegations in the Complaint to make plausible the assertion that Defendant disclosed and disseminated Plaintiffs' private information. Rather, the Complaint alleges the computers containing the private information were removed from Defendant's administrative offices, not that Defendant disseminated it to anyone.

Second, even if the Complaint sufficiently alleged dissemination, the Complaint fails to allege publicity. The tort of invasion of privacy by publication of private facts includes as an element publicity to the public at large or to so many persons that the information is certain to become public knowledge. See, e.g., Restatement (second) of Torts § 652D, comment a. Illinois courts have adopted a modification of the Restatement's definition of "public" as those with whom the plaintiff has a special relationship, making even the relatively limited disclosure particularly embarrassing or devastating to the plaintiff. Miller v. Motorola, Inc., 202 Ill.App.3d at 976-977.

Using either definition of “public”, Plaintiff fails to allege publicity. The Complaint makes no allegations about what happened to the data on the computers once they were removed from the administrative offices. The Complaint only alleges that the “private and confidential information could have been bought and sold several times on the robust international cyber black market.” (Compl ¶47.) The Complaint alleges no facts as to how many persons ever had the personal information and whether the persons sold the personal information to anyone, let alone whether the persons even were able to access the personal information from the computers removed. Therefore, the allegation that the removal of the computers “resulted in the public disclosure of such private information” is conclusory in that Plaintiffs allege no facts to make plausible the assertion that Plaintiffs’ personal information was publicly disclosed. Without an allegation that the personal information here was disclosed to and viewed by someone unauthorized to do so, Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim for invasion of privacy.

d. Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress

To state a cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress, a plaintiff must allege certain facts. First, the defendant’s conduct must be truly extreme and outrageous. McGrath v. Fahey, 126 Ill.2d 78, 86 (1988). Second, the defendant either intended to inflict severe emotional distress, or knew that there was at least a high probability that the conduct would cause severe emotional distress. Id. Third, the defendant’s conduct actually caused severe emotional distress. Id. In its motion to dismiss, Defendant asserts that the facts alleged in the Plaintiffs’ complaint are insufficient to satisfy the first and third elements of the tort. This court agrees.

Similar to the reasoning in Welsh v. Commonwealth Edison Co., 306 Ill.App.3d 148 (1st Dist. 1999), this Court holds that Plaintiffs fail to allege facts from which a level of severity of emotional distress could be inferred. Instead, Plaintiffs simply set forth a conclusory allegation: "Defendant, ADVOCATE, knew or should have known that Defendant's unauthorized dissemination of Plaintiffs' and Class Members' personal, private and confidential information would inflict upon Plaintiffs' and Class Members' severe emotional distress, which did in fact cause emotional distress to Plaintiffs." (Compl. ¶80.) This statement in the Complaint does not support a conclusion that the emotional distress suffered was severe. "Merely characterizing emotional distress as severe is not sufficient." Welsh, 306 Ill.App.3d at 156.

Plaintiffs' respond to Defendant's argument by stating that the severity of the emotional distress meets the requisite level. (Pl. Brief in Resp., pg. 15.) However, no facts are forthcoming from the Plaintiffs to support such a statement. To state an action for intentional infliction of emotional distress, the complaint must be "specific, and detailed beyond what is normally considered permissible in pleading a tort action." McCaskill v. Barr, 92 Ill.App.3d 157, 158 (4th Dist. 1980). No allegations of hospital care or medical care sought are made by Plaintiffs. Welsh, 306 Ill.App.3d at 155. Nor are allegations made that any Plaintiffs were "afflicted with a physical or mental condition rendering him or her particularly vulnerable to emotional distress." Id. Plaintiffs' failure to sufficiently allege the degree of emotional distress requires dismissal of the cause of action.

III. Economic Loss doctrine

Defendant's Motion to Dismiss also asserts the economic loss doctrine as a basis to dismiss Plaintiff's tort claims pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-615. The economic loss doctrine bars recovery in tort actions solely for economic losses. In re Ill. Bell Switching Station Litig., 161 Ill.2d 233 (1994). The rationale underlying this doctrine is that tort law affords the proper remedy for loss arising from personal injury or damages to one's property, whereas contract law and the Uniform Commercial Code provide the appropriate remedy for economic loss stemming from diminished commercial expectations without related injury to person or property. Id.

There are three exceptions to the economic loss doctrine. The first is where the plaintiff sustained personal injury or property damage resulting from a sudden or dangerous occurrence. Moorman Mfg. Co. v. Nat'l Tank Co., 91 Ill.2d 69, 86-89 (1982). Next is where the plaintiff's damages are proximately caused by a defendant's intentional, false representation. Id. Finally, an exception lies where the plaintiff's damages are proximately caused by a negligent misrepresentation by a defendant in the business of supplying information for the guidance of others in their business transactions. Id. Plaintiffs provided no response to Defendant's argument regarding the economic loss doctrine. Certainly, it appears that none of the three exceptions apply to the Plaintiffs' case. Most of Plaintiffs' alleged injuries are economic losses, with the exception of emotional distress. However, as discussed above, this court does not find emotional distress to be a viable injury when it is based on a purely speculative harm.

Notably, other courts dealing with data breach cases have held that the economic loss doctrine bars the plaintiff's tort claim because the plaintiff has not suffered personal injury or property damage. See, e.g., In re TJX Cos. Retail Sec. Breach Litig., 564 F.3d 489, 498-99 (1st Cir. 2009) (applying Massachusetts law and affirming dismissal of bank's negligence claim based on economic loss doctrine because bank did not suffer property damage); see also Sovereign Bank v. BJ's Wholesale Club, Inc., 533 F.3d 162, 175-77 (3d Cir.2008) (applying Pennsylvania law and affirming dismissal of bank's negligence claim based on economic loss doctrine because bank did not suffer property damage); see also Cumis Ins. Society, Inc. v. BJ's Wholesale Club, Inc., 918 N.E.2d 36, 46-47 (2009) (applying Massachusetts law and affirming dismissal of negligence claim of credit unions who issued the compromised credit cards because the credit unions cannot sue in tort for purely economic losses).

This Court finds persuasive the reasoning of the courts cited above. Given the nature of the injuries Plaintiffs' have claimed, the economic loss doctrine operates to bar the Plaintiffs' tort claims.

Conclusion

Plaintiffs' claimed injuries are insufficient to establish standing. Additionally, the Plaintiffs' causes of action in their Complaint fail to state claims upon which relief can be granted. Further, Plaintiffs cannot sustain their tort claims due to the economic loss doctrine.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED:

Defendant's combined Motion to Dismiss pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9) and 735 ILCS 5/2-615 is granted and Plaintiffs' Complaint is dismissed with prejudice.
